Anne's knowledge of statutory law and procedure and her strategic application of that knowledge provides distinct value to clients. She has experience in matters that fall within federally regulated areas, including environmental and employment law. In addition to managing a robust litigation practice, Anne is an adjunct professor at the University of Idaho College of Law, where she teaches Conflict of Laws and has also taught the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

Before starting in private practice, Anne served sequential terms as a judicial law clerk to Judge Candy W. Dale and Judge B. Lynn Winmill of the U.S. District Court for the District of Idaho.
