J.T. helps guide renewable energy industry clients through the full lifecycle of wind and solar energy project development, financing, and transactions.

Before attending law school, J.T. served for 9 years as a mechanical nuclear operator in the US Navy. He developed agile problem solving skills and a keen appreciation of how specialized teams contribute towards the holistic goals of a larger project. He applies these skills to his work on every phase of renewable energy projects, from early-stage financing and development through construction, operations, and strategic transactions.

Prior to joining Holland & Hart, J.T. participated in the firm's Summer Clerk program. He also served as an extern in both the Staff Attorney's Office of the Arizona Supreme Court, and for the Honorable Diane J. Humetewa of the United States District Court for the District of Arizona.
