Jessica approaches her clients' real estate and business needs with a tailored, solutions-oriented approach to deliver effective legal solutions that support their goals.

Jessica represents clients in real estate matters, such as construction, development, purchase and sale agreements, liens, covenants, financing, and easement-related issues. She assists clients in commercial transactions, including review and development of construction agreements, asset purchase agreements, commercial leases, organizational documents, and shareholder agreements.

Before joining Holland & Hart, Jessica managed a solo practice where she represented clients on business, commercial, consumer, bankruptcy, real estate, and construction matters, including complex litigation and transactional work. Her litigation background is invaluable in her navigation of transactional work for her clients in an effort to try to avoid later disputes.
