

Jonathan Bender

Partner
303.295.8456
Denver
jsbender@hollandhart.com

State and Local Taxes in Colorado

Insight — 09/11/2018

Holland & Hart state and local tax attorney Jon Bender has authored the “State and Local Taxes in Colorado” article as part of the Lexology Getting the Deal Through - Colorado, USA research and reference offering, providing information for subscribers to compare information on issues across multiple jurisdictions. In a Q&A format, the article provides legislative and regulatory insights on topics such as corporate income and franchise taxes, personal income taxes, sales and use taxes, property taxes, unclaimed and abandoned property, excise and other indirect taxes, incentives, and planning considerations related to the state and local taxes in Colorado.

The full Lexology Getting the Deal Through “State and Local Taxes in Colorado” article published on Sept. 11, 2018 is available for download here: State and Local Taxes in Colorado (subscription required).

This publication is designed to provide general information on pertinent legal topics. The statements made are provided for educational purposes only. They do not constitute legal or financial advice nor do they necessarily reflect the views of Holland & Hart LLP or any of its attorneys other than the author(s). This publication is not intended to create an attorney-client relationship between you and Holland & Hart LLP. Substantive changes in the law subsequent to the date of this publication might affect the analysis or commentary. Similarly, the analysis may differ depending on the jurisdiction or circumstances. If you have specific questions as to the application of the law to your activities, you should seek the advice of your legal counsel.